

NEW JERSEY MENINGOCOCCAL VACCINE INFORMATION

New Jersey law requires that Strayer University provide information to all incoming students on meningococcal disease and the availability of the meningococcal vaccine. For more information about meningococcal disease, please see the brochure from the New Jersey Department of Health, located on the Strayer University website at:

<http://www.strayer.edu/admissions/requirements/new-jersey-vaccination-requirements>

If you are unable to access this brochure, please contact the admissions office to obtain a printed copy.

Because Strayer University does not offer student housing, there is no requirement that any Strayer University student receive the meningococcal vaccine prior to enrollment.

Once you have reviewed the information about meningococcal disease, please complete the form below and return it to the admissions office. All students must complete this form within 60 days of enrollment.
